"Deliciously chewy" and "unusually irresistible" is something one might describe as an edible treat. That's what critics are saying about the psych-pop-rock band LoveyDove, a treat for the ears, the mind and the body.

LoveyDove is a sonic and seductive collaboration that mixes the novelty rock of Trio ("Da Da Da"); the wordsmith poetry of Lou Reed; the ambitious orchestral pop of the Left Banke ("Walk Away Renee"); all updated with a fresh approach that sounds like nobody else.

"Loaded with dynamics, color and articulate lyrics that are both acutely chosen and shrewdly applied....that aims to actively uplift its audience and illuminate a path out of the dark jungle of anger and resentment in which so many of us endlessly wander. Prepare for a profoundly transportative flight." (LA Weekly)

Their song "Less is Never More" will be heard in the upcoming dramedy "Space Station 76" starring Matt Bomer, Liv Tyler and Patrick Wilson (the biggest hit of the 2014 SXSW film festival.)

LoveyDove is rotating on the best radio stations in the country: WFMU, WPRB, KCRW, amongst others. Their music can be heard internationally as well after their successful European tour in October 2013.

LoveyDove will be touring the USA and Europe again in 2014/2015.
