

Panthan was a project started in 2008 by Brian John Mitchell (Vlor, Remora, & Small Life Form) & Nicholas Slaton (slicnaton) to write songs for film placements. Every morning in the summer of 2008 Mitchell & Slaton would get together to record pieces to pitch for movies. Five Pointed Swords collects a few of the less commercial & more interesting original pieces.

The music on Five Pointed Swords varies a lot, from shoegaze influenced rock to dronescapes to dubstep beat. With Mitchell on guitars & Slaton on drums & bass the roots were definitely laid down for something good, but with very few film placements secured it was hard to justify the time spent working on it. So the project died off in the fall of 2008.

Oh, the name is the term for assassins in Edgar Rice Burroughs Barsoom series.

Available for free stream or download from Silber Records

For interviews contact:
silberspy@silbermedia.com

silber records
po box 18062, raleigh, nc 27619, usa
<http://www.silbermedia.com>

