

Electric Bird Noise

Music from the Short Film Icarus City

Entering the city to save the dying world. Attacked & left for dead. They rise. They fight. They win. They go home.

For fifteen years Electric Bird Noise has been impossible to pigeonhole as anything besides the loose self-description of cinematic soundscapes. Cascading guitar walls at one moment & Kraftwerkian prog pop the next, Music from the Short Film Icarus City reveals yet another facet of Electric Bird Noise with analog synths telling a story of 1980s sci-fi that could star Kurt Russell or Jack Palance. Sit back & hear the story, repeat to learn more.
