

Tony Whitlock

I can't remember exactly how Silber first got in touch with guitarist Tony Whitlock (Matthew & the Arrogant Sea), but I know he appeared on our Six Feet Below the Snow compilation in 2011. His music varies from indie pop to shoegaze to drone & we're very happy to have him coming on board with Silber doing five minutes of cinematic ambient drone.

A collection of pieces recorded for (but not used) in a short film, The Secret Keepers EP is a mix of the organic & the synthetic, whirring refrigerators & noisy ceiling fans processed beyond recognition with both analog & digital processors. One of the tracks features sound generated by bowing the strings of a piano with a steel guitar tone bar while a brick holds the damper pedal down, can you figure out which one?
